The global saints has yet to come into the fullness of the apostolic dimension, and as we do so each part that we play together contributes to the whole. Across the earth the apostolic carries more or less intense emphasis, many for soul harvest, others for divine government and the theocracy of the kingdom through apostles, and yet others for reforming the nations into constructs of kingdom modeling and apostolic patterns and designs, reengineering the saints for re-fueling them for destiny. As an apostle it is almost impossible in present truth dimension to understand the apostolic apart from the revelation of the kingdom.

If one is kingdom their is going to be apostolic perception and mentality. If another is apostolic, the kingdom is the power-fuel for launching mentalities from church to kingdom. The more the saints become corporate, the revelation of apostles and prophets, the kingdom, the 3rd Day, and more, becomes a lively hope and a powerful release for all to enter into. If we are individualistic and loner, aloof from others, and minister out of a slight or more recognizable exclusiveness, the kingdom in message, manhood, and ministry is somewhat bound up and not loosed into the destiny streams of the corporate saints. So let's aim for corporate anointing through corporate relationship, and let us seize the moment in edifying the body, and not edifying our own ideals alone apart from the wholesome good of the body.

In closing, we would like to thank many who have been receiving our books by email and on line for over 10 years, even if no one at times would ask for them, we gave them away anyway for years in good grace and in generosity and much gratuity. However, we shall now discontinue sending our kingdom resources in this wise. We surely appreciate the many years of labor and work involved, many, many nights awake, and days, just to get one resource out, and making many rich. I learn this strategy {in part} in the days of the late Bill Britton, as in those days all was given away upon [request], and the table of the Lord was freely given...

As of today we will no longer be sending our books to the masses {just in some small and minute isolated instances to team ministry only for developing a strategy of Kingdom education in their region}, but will develop a new strategy for saints at large to become part of the impartation on a tangible level, continuously in a perpetual offering. With counsel from our international team earlier today to finalize this effort, it is affirmed we are heading into a new place, and now it is time to witness the harvest and inheritance of all that has been poured out to over 120 nations and to tens of thousands of people. We were one of the first in the world to do this, on line daily distributing over 250,000 of books worldwide. Also, new libraries, books stores, and kingdom resource centres are in the planning for FAP International in 6 continents, volumes on display for thousands of students coming forth from relationship enhanced and enlarged through scholarship. Amazing...

Today, after counsel and deliberation, and after the last book sent as courtesy, I shared with the brethren that after sending the last book to over 1000 people at a time, I sensed the Spirit of the Lord shifting us into a new rhythm of functionality of focus. A great peace fell upon us at home as something deep inside said this is the end of the old paradigm of ministry, your giving away days of mega and generous portions to the many has come to a close. This is not to say we would refuse to give to anyone else these kingdom resources, not so, but the random or heavy duty volumn and traffic input of getting over 60 different books to people for years has been vacuumed and swallowed up into a new methodology for kingdom advancement. First of course by change into new perceptions, or new realities...

We have been the backbone behind many and major spheres and development of the kingdom over the years throughout the earth, and now, we conclude that when our books are all re-published and re-printed on a different scale, along with writing hundreds more {a passion to write, no duty at all} the books will be sold and purchased only...and the nations, schools, and training centers across the globe will purchased the books for a specific cost...Today, our team confirmed that inheritance is coming from our pen, many years of writing. Nothing bad for getting out the books over the years in the old or former fashion, but we don't want to be standing in the way of 10's of thousands of saints from a willingness to sow and to take time to appreciate the resources sown into them and the labor of love.

If we continue to give away days and nights in that former fashion, people at large will continue to lose value of the resources for it is given away free with no accountability to what they have received, for there is responsibility with blessing. The same with Global Leadership Institutes of the past. Learning should be esteemed with a premium, as in any well designed first class centre of education. So we have moved on now from the former rain into the latter rain, and this administrative shift must make room for harvest and inheritance and massive new tangible influxes on many levels of grace and glory...Freely one receives, freely one gives...

So we thank God for those days, but we conclude that a new order of grace and glory is among us, and we follow the Lamb wherever He is going...
